

The SECOND State of New Jersey Universities Consortium Symposium

on

Homeland Security Research - Biodefense Research

will be held on

March 1st, 2004 - 8:00am to 4:00pm

at the

International Center for Public Health
225 Warren Street, Newark, NJ

http://www.umdnj.edu/homeweb/university/maps_newark.htm

Keynote speaker: Congressman Rodney Frelinghuysen (invited)

Feature presentations on Biodefense Research:

"Strategies to Enhance Biodefense Research Safety Without Compromising National Security"

Laura H. Kahn, MD

Program on Science and Global Security - Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, Princeton University

"New Jersey's Response to West Nile Virus: A Homeland Security Prospective"

Rose Shaffer Puelle, PhD

Department of Entomology, Rutgers University

"Gene, Screen, and Microarrays: Biodefense Research at UMDNJ"

Nancy Connell, PhD

Center for BioDefense and Department of Medicine, UMDNJ-New Jersey Medical School

- Lunch will be served -

Additionally, the afternoon will feature breakout group sessions on various biodefense research topics
Specifics will be posted at <http://biodefense.umdnj.edu>

SAVE THE DATE!

Please make an effort to attend - RSVP requested to: CBDmail@umdnj.edu

Sponsored By:

UMDNJ - New Jersey Medical School Department of Medicine - <http://njms.umdnj.edu/>

UMDNJ Center for BioDefense - <http://biodefense.umdnj.edu>

